

FOUR ARRESTED IN M'ILHONE MURDER

PERU, CHILE ACCEPT U. S. AS MEDIATOR

Lating Agree to American Decision in Dispute Over Boundary

MEET IN WASHINGTON

Plebiscite Held in Abyeance
Pending Arbitration Arrangement

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg, announced Friday that the government's of Peru and Chile had accepted the good offices of the United States for the settlement of the Tacna-Arica controversy.

Arrangements for the procedure of mediation, the secretary said, are now going forward in correspondence between Washington Santiago and Lima.

The secretary would make no further explanation of the latest turn in the long controversy and state department officials professed not to know whether the resort to diplomatic settlement forshadowed abandonment of the plebiscite proceedings now in progress under an arbitral award by President Coolidge.

Presumably that question, among others, is involved in the correspondence between the three governments as to methods of procedure under the mediator plan.

The usual method in diplomatic mediation will be for each of the disputants to name either its diplomatic representatives in Washington or some other person to meet with Secretary Kellogg for a round table discussion of all aspects of the dispute.

It would then be the task of the secretary to offer such assistance as he could toward an agreement between the two countries regarding the sovereignty of the two provinces.

When an agreement had been reached it would be subject to formal ratifications at Lima and Santiago. It would be natural for the mediation negotiations to proceed in Washington rather than somewhere in South America.

There is nothing definite to indicate whether Washington put forward, in offering its good offices, a formula for settlement of the dispute. Recent conferences between Secretary Kellogg, former Secretary Hughes and General Frechot, however, would indicate that some scheme to definitely end the long quarrel was under consideration.

ACCEPT MEDIATION
Arica, Chile.—(AP)—Both Chile and Peru have accepted an offer of the good offices of the United States for solution of the dispute over the sovereignty of Tacna and Arica, it was announced here Friday.

It is expected that the problem will be taken up with Washington at the earliest moment. Meanwhile the plebiscite award will remain in abeyance, pending the outcome of the attempt for a direct settlement.

His arm was crushed and had to be amputated, he testified, as the result of the accident. The case was previously tried in Milwaukee district court where a $25,000 verdict was given.

Murphy was met at the prison gates by his wife and a party of friends. They left immediately in automobiles presumably for Kansas City as that had been his plan.

His sentence lightened 336 days because of good behavior was up at midnight, but prison regulations require that he remain until after the morning count.

Prison officials said that he had obeyed all of the prison regulations in spite of his assertion that he would "unionize the prison." After several months he was made an outside trustee.

He was employed as a steam fitter's helper in the prison power plant, where his experience with gas house workers came into play. He is honorary president of Chicago Gas House Workers union.

Congress Seeks To Shear Tariff Board Of Its Power

Congress Wishes It's Services to Be Confined in Investigation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1926, by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—The inquiry being conducted by the senate into the workings of the tariff commission has already brought out what was expected, namely that the manner of making appointments and the pressure of outside interests on the commission have made it impossible for the board to function in the way congress intended.

It is too early to say that the commission will be abolished by congress and there is little likelihood that any important changes will be made in the tariff law at this session of congress but it seems certain that when congress takes the matter up seriously in December session the whole situation will be altered so that the commission will be a fact-finding body without power. Congress created a tariff board many years ago for such a purpose and although the congressional committees usually ignored the facts found, nevertheless the studies made by the board were considered of value to industry.

DOUBT LEGALITY
Most of the present friction inside the tariff commission is due to the so-called flexible provisions of the tariff law whereby the commission is empowered to recommend to the President that changes be made. The provision was attacked originally as unconstitutional on the ground that congress could not delegate tariff-making powers to any other agency.

The argument being that tariff duties constituted changes in the revenues of the United States and all such legislation must originate in the house of representatives. The bill providing for a flexible tariff was passed, however, on the theory that congress had fixed the limits within which duties could be increased or diminished and that the tariff commission really did not establish new tariff duties in the sense in which congress was authorized by the constitution to perform that task.

It was considered an additional safeguard, too, that the president was given the authority to accept or reject recommendations by the tariff commission. Difficulties have been multiplying, however, ever since the commission has been trying to understand its functions with reference to the flexible provisions of the law. The argument of the high protectionists is that the commission has followed a proper theory in conformity with tradition. The moderate protectionists oppose this and state that commissioners were not supposed to follow any theory but to be guided by the facts no matter where these facts led.

PRESIDENT'S REPORTS IGNORED
Charges that the president himself shelved certain reports, that Mr. Coolidge and his predecessor Mr. Harding attempted to renege the affairs of the commission, and the appointment of men sympathetic to particular causes will form the basis of the inquiry which has been started by the senate. Yet when it is all over the public will not know more than has been generally known for months, namely that the tariff is a local, sectional question honeycombed with politics and that congress does not intend to delegate at any time the right of its members to deal with the subject by legislation whenever the producers and consumers make enough fuss to demand a change in duties.

MINORITY OF PROBERS HOLD JURIST CLEAN

Impeachment of Judge English Opposed in Minority Report to House

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Impeachment of Federal Judge George W. English, of the eastern Illinois district, was opposed Friday in a minority report filed by three members of the house judiciary committee.

With this action, following submission Thursday of the majority recommendation of the committee recommending impeachment, all of the conclusions drawn from fourteen months investigation of the case was placed before the house. The minority report, embracing twenty typewritten pages, is signed by Representatives Rowland, Democrat, Alabama; Weaver, Democrat, North Carolina, and Hickey, Republican, Indiana. It disagreed with the conclusions of the majority both as to facts and law.

Agreeing with the majority as to the federal status of the judge, the minority took up each "article of fact" in the committee recommendation, and presented its dissenting arguments and conclusions. Most of the sections were concluded with the statement that "no corrupt motive is shown" and in regard to alleged threats against state officials at the time of the 1922 Illinois coal strike it was stated that the jurist "is susceptible of the best motives, if not commendation" for his actions during this period which were condemned by the majority of the committee.

Assailing the five articles of impeachment presented by the majority is an omnibus charge to establish "a course of conduct showing tyranny, oppression and habitual official misbehavior" the report said this accusation was wholly unsupported by testimony.

LIQUOR FLOWS IN MAINE JAIL, PROBERS AVER

Former Prisoners Tell Governor's Council of Hilarious Times

Augusta, Me.—(AP)—Prisoners at the Kennebec county jail had women visitors in their cells, and plenty of liquor, witnesses have testified to Governor Brewster and his council investigating charges brought by prohibitionists. Additional witnesses were called for Friday after the council took testimony until late Thursday night.

William Shaw, a witness Thursday night, read two poems he wrote while a prisoner. One was called "Sunday in Kennebec jail," and the other was a tribute to Sheriff Cummings for a Christmas party he gave his prisoners in 1924.

The first rhymes told of visits by young girls to the prisoner's cells. Shaw testified that there was lax behavior on the part of the men prisoners, but he could not recall any of their names. He declared the prisoners had plenty of liquor in their cells, that once some prisoners stole seized liquor that was stored as evidence, and that many prisoners made their own liquor from mash, stored in the jail garage.

Lawrence B. Greenwood, an evangelist, testified he had conducted services at the jail until Sheriff Cummings called him a "damn liar." He declared that once during services a prisoner hump player "was so intoxicated he could not tell one end of the banjo from the other."

Charles Patten, former prisoner, described visits of women, drinking and gambling. He admitted that he had never seen any women of visitors except wives of prisoners, or any evidence of immorality. Everett Merrill, another former prisoner testified that prisoners working in the kitchen used to sell liquor at $4 a pint. He said he went into the jail with $125 and spent but $10 or $12 on liquor. Harold Tracy, another ex-prisoner, testified he had seen a deputy sheriff intoxicated, and that poker and crap games some times ran all night. Nearly everybody got drunk on Christmas eve 1924, he declared.

Hanson declared he had been assured in telegrams from President

Green Bay Votes For Beer And Wine After Debate

Rev. G. Kenneth MacInnis,
Old Lawrence Man, Loses
Argument by 5 to 1 Vote

Green Bay.—(AP)—The question "shall the Volstead act be modified to permit the sale of light wines and beer?" was debated here Thursday night by C. A. Windle, a Chicago editor and the Rev. G. Kenneth MacInnis of Milwaukee.

Mr. Windle, armed with facts and figures, including quotations from the Bible, presented the affirmative side of the question, and Mr. MacInnis, quoting several parts of the report of the federal Council of Churches on prohibition, spoke for the negative.

Mr. Windle stated that the prisons and insane asylums were crowded, the courts have been flooded and drunken auto driver arrests have increased since prohibition. He stated that prohibition has left the country in worse condition following the six years of trial, than it was before the law was in effect.

"The act is wrong in principle and unchristian," he said. The number of home owners among the working people have increased, the educational ideals are higher, the charity expenditures are less costly, bank deposits are larger and the industrial accident rates are lower now than before prohibition, Mr. MacInnis said.

In a vote on the question following the debate the audience stood 846 for modification and 182 against the plan, nearly a 5 to 1 majority.

He said the wholesaler explained that liquor deliveries were protected by the police.

Drs. Robert Halbach and Herbert Wallace testified that the course of the bullets which wounded Thompson was downward and told of taking the policeman's gun from his right hip pocket. The state contends the policeman was slain while outside Jessner's restaurant and that he had not drawn his gun. The defense alleges Thompson was shot after he had entered the restaurant and threatened Jessner.

Earl W. Hessing, companion officer who accompanied Thompson when he was slain testified here Thursday that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan but is not now a member of the organization. The defense declares Jessner, a Jew, was persecuted by the police.

Zimmerman Is Most Recent Politician to Make Definite Statement

Madison.—(AP)—Candidates of at least six aspirants for state offices in Wisconsin have been announced, and definite announcements are awaited from several other persons who have been mentioned repeatedly as probable candidates.

Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state, cleared any uncertainty regarding his future course by announcing formally that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for governor next September. Other announced candidates for the nomination are Assemblyman Charles D. Perry, Wauwatosa, and State Senator William A. Titts, Fond du Lac.

Mr. Zimmerman stated that he would run as a "progressive republican" and added that he would announce his platform within a short time. He is a political enemy of Governor John J. Blaine, who has been mentioned publicly from various sources as a candidate for United States senator.

Attorney General Herman L. Ecken has been mentioned repeatedly as a candidate for governor, and W. Stanley Smith, state insurance commissioner, has announced that he will be ready, if there is NO other candidate satisfactory to progressives generally, to make the race. Both the attorney general and the insurance commissioner are progressives, but the latter has criticized the former on several occasions. Mr. Smith is a supporter of Governor Blaine.

Frank J. Kelly, former prosecutor of prohibition law violators at Washington, has announced his candidacy for the nomination for United States senator of Wisconsin, sponsored by the Anti-Tax League of America. Senator Irvine Lenroot has indicated that he would be a candidate for re-nomination.

Assemblyman Clinton Price, Mauston, and State Senator John B. Chase, Oconto, have announced their candidacies for the nomination for attorney general. Both are progressives and have been supporters of Governor Blaine.

Although Lieutenant Governor Henry A. Huber and State Treasurer Solomon Levitan have not made formal announcements, NO opposition to their re-nomination has developed.

Talk of possible candidates for secretary of state has NOT yet taken definite form, although several persons have been mentioned.

POLICE MISSTATEMENTS EMBARRASSED BADGER

Minneapolis, Minn.—(AP)—Andrew Haugsbo, formerly of Barron, Wis., and now residing in Minneapolis never was driven to seek shelter in a poor house, as was erroneously stated in press dispatches from Chicago last Nov. 17. Haugsbo, a retired farmer of considerable means, caused the arrest in Chicago of a Wisconsin politician on a charge of defrauding him of money and property worth $5,000 several years ago.

This case was subsequently settled but the report of the arrest erroneously stated that Haugsbo had been impoverished by the loss and forced to enter a poor house. The misleading information was given out by Chicago police officers and Haugsbo said today it had caused him considerable embarrassment.

Engineers Threatened With Death Unless They Pay
Kidnapers

Mexico City.—(AP)—The kidnapping of a party of American mining engineers, who were tied to trees in the latest of a series of recent attacks on Americans.

Near Asarco, in the state of Durango, bandits at nightfall on Wednesday seized C. D. Weaver, Jr., Emil Kreglan and A. P. Morris and Adolph Matz, a German and robbed them of about 500 pesos and all their jewelry. The men were carried captives into the hills and tied to trees. The bandits announced their intention to hold them for 10,000 pesos ransom and threatened death if the money was not forthcoming.

NEGRO KILLED

Most of the men are connected with the American Smelting and Refining Company. Mr. Weaver is president of an American-Mexican mining development company. The bandits captured the party between San Lorenzo and Asarco. Mr. Weaver told the captors that he had money at his home near Asarco. Three bandits accompanied him home. They ransacked the place, taking all valuables. The other men meanwhile freed themselves from the trees and went to Asarco and notified the authorities.

An American Negro named McNally is declared to have been killed by a blow inflicted by pistols in the hands of policemen while he was attempting a third escape from the jail at Matamoros. Four policemen were under arrest in connection with his death.

FOUR ARRESTED

Four Mexicans have been arrested at Ixtlan in connection with the recent murder of Rex McIlhene, Appleton, Wis., and the wounding of E. H. Heidenkamp, employees of the American Bridge Company, who were attacked, apparently for robbery while driving a railroad motor car toward a construction camp in the state of Jalisco.

In connection with the death of Joe Hall, an American employed by the Mexican National railways, last Monday near Ixtlan, Remedio Ruales, a Mexican has been arrested. Hall was stoned to death.

At Acapulco, in the state of Guanajuato, the ranch of J. M. Poch is being protected by troops because of a raid upon it last Sunday by 25 armed men.

Adventures Of The Twins

The March Hare Takes An Apple
"What's next in your big book?"
asked Mister Rhinoceros.

The March Hare looked at his book through his big spectacles and said, "Grubby Groundhog—he's next. He really should be almost the first person to go to the Land-Where-Spring Is-Coming. And here he is still fast asleep in his house between the fence and the potato-patch!"

"I know a story about him," said
Nick. "If he comes out of his hole and sees his shadow on the second of February, he goes back in again and stays for six weeks longer."

"Stuff and nonsense and dis-sauce!" said the March Hare. "He's too thin now to have any shadow, or at least he'd have to stand up twice to make one. Why he hasn't had a bite to eat since twelve o'clock on the last day of October, and he's as hungry as three hunters."

At this last dreadful word, the March Hare shivered, but he went on to say quickly that he was going to get old Grubby out of his hole at once, if not sooner.

"You see, he has four doors to his house, and if he knows we're going to get him to be spring-cleaned, he's likely to sneak out another way—his wife too," he explained. "And he would be a disgrace to any community if he went the way he is. The Fairly Queen would discharge me at once—Rhinoceros too, if she saw him."

Off went the Twins and the March Hare to Grubby Groundhog's house between the fence and the potato patch. That is his doorway—his front doorway was there.

Before he left, the March Hare had put a big shiny red apple into his pocket.

"Come on out, Grubby!" he called.
"Oh, Grubby! Grubby! Groundhog, come on out. Come out and see who's here. I've got a surprise for you."

But all the answer he got was a long loud snore and a grunt.

"Dear me! I just have my trouble for my pains!" said the March Hare.
"Come, children, we'll have to break in like burglars and get this fellow.
You have your magic shoes, so come right along. Help me to roll this big stone away from the door, Nick."

Nick helped the March Hare to roll the stone away and they all tiptoed inside, down a long crooked hall, to another hall, then along that to a tiny room.

And there in a bed of moss and leaves and bits of feathers and even strips of dried cornhusks, lay Mister Groundhog—or as some of his special friends called him, Mister Woodchuck.

"Give me your knife, Nick," whispered the March Hare.

So Nick reached in his pocket and gave the hare his nice little sharp knife with two blades.

But the hare only needed one blade, for what he wanted was to cut the nice big red apple in two.

When he had done this he carefully laid the two pieces of apple under Grubby's nose.

And when the groundhog took his next deep breath to get ready for his next loud snore, he smelt apples!

And everyone knows that apples to a groundhog are like, well, like ice-cream soda to a little boy. In about one-third of a minute his nose started to wiggle.

SCOTCH POET HONORED BY COTTAGE IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—The memory of Scotland's famous bard, Robert Burns, is commemorated here by a club formed of admirers and lovers of the great Scotch poet.

An exact replica of the cottage at Ayr in which Burns lived, was built by the club where it holds monthly literary meetings. The cottage walls are covered with ivy brought from Scotland. The interior, plainly furnished, contains numerous relics, mementos and pictures.

The club first came into existence in 1896.

BODY OF MISSING MAN DISCOVERED FLOATING IN FOX

Mystery of Oshkosh Man's Disappearance Is Cleared Up

The mystery of the disappearance of August Zimmerschied, father of Mrs. George J. Thielen, 300 N. Catharine-st., from his home in Oshkosh last Oct. 26 was cleared up this week when his body was found floating in the Fox river in Oshkosh. The body, floating among pieces of ice, was noticed from the Wisconsin-ave bridge by two teamsters who notified the police.

Grappling hooks were used to drag the body out of the water onto the solid ice. Although the body was quite decomposed and covered with mud it was identified by police with little difficulty.

Mr. Zimmerschied left his home at an early hour on the morning of Oct. 26, and was last seen at about 10 o'clock that morning on the Oregon-Jackson-st bridge. It was feared that he had been drowned and a section of the river was dragged with out result.

Mr. Zimmerschied's wife and his daughter Mrs. Thielen offered a reward of $200 for information concerning the missing man, whereabouts at that time. It is believed that an illness of several months may have caused a mental derangement which prompted Zimmerschied to take his life. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis which affected his left side.

MULLENIX TELLS HOW "FROSH" ARE HANDLED

Dr. R. C. Mullenix, dean of freshmen at Lawrence college, spoke to the Kiwanis club on How We Treat Freshmen at Lawrence, at the regular club luncheon Wednesday noon at the Conway hotel. The meeting marked the second anniversary of the organization of the club.

A professor must not only be an instructor but also the critic of his students if he is to help them at all, Dr. Mullenix said. The old idea in education of "lickin and larnin" still should have its place in modern educational methods if not carried too far, the speaker said.

Ought To Be Lot Of Color In Annual Easter Parade

Young Men and even some not so young seem to be favoring more and more bright and flashy colors in their wearing apparel, so much in fact that it is safe to say the women will by no means cop all the glory in the annual riot of color in Appleton's Easter promenade as they have done in previous years. It is now possible for a man to bedeck himself in bright and shining colors from head to foot, although there may be a few intermediate regions where a flashy color scheme is neither useful nor ornamental.

A few days ago a Post-Crescent reporter entered a mens furnishing store and saw from a distance what he thought to be a very attractive display of colorful neckties. But upon closer

MEET MONDAY TO FORM "Y" LUNCHEON CLUB

Appleton men interested in becoming charter members of the proposed Y Mens club, community and Y. M. C. At that time members of the newly organized Ys Mens club of Green Bay presented the possibilities and work of such a service organization to the Appleton men and it was unanimously decided to organize here. Frank Sager was named chairman of a committee which will interview prospective members.

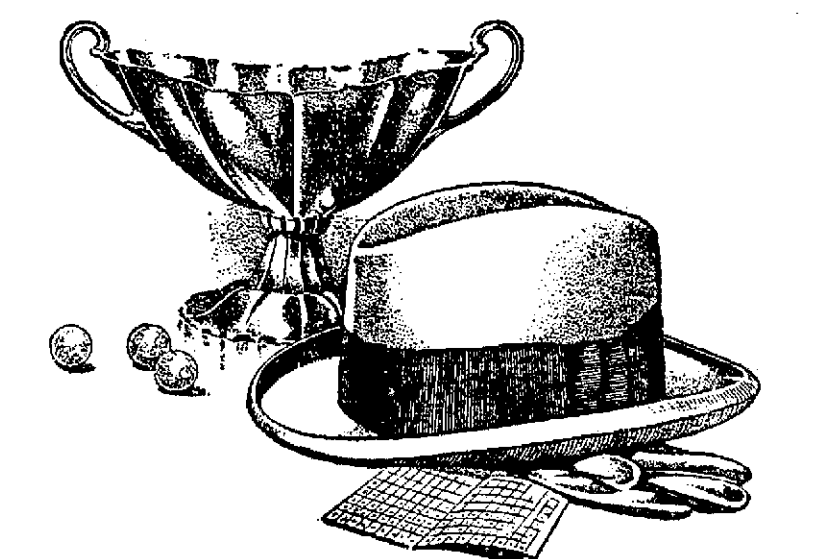

There are over 100 Y's Mens clubs in the United States and while not competitors of other service organizations they offer opportunities of membership to young men who unable to join the noon luncheon organizations.

Club Worker Says Home Is First Duty

BY NEA Service
Haines City, Fla.—"Woman's first duty is to her home and husband."

This is not the statement of a reformer or a neglected husband or an anti-feminist, but of Mrs. Jack Pryor, recognized as the leading club woman of Florida.

That was the explanation she gave for severing her many club connections, including state chairman of the Division of Beautification of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs and the State Committee of the Florida Development Board.

She also announced she would not be a candidate for vice-president-at-large when the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs holds its convention in Jacksonville, though she was slated for entry.

In fact, her action comes at the height of her career as a club woman.

"Nobody could have enjoyed club and organization work more than I have," she admitted, "but despite the extent or importance of her club activities, if the time comes when her husband needs her more than her club did, I believe no woman should question her duty. She should give up all for her husband."

Her decision came when she called suddenly from a meeting of the board of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs at Fort Lauderdale, last October, by the illness of her husband.

She drove quickly to Jacksonville, where he was, and finding all north-bound cars hours behind schedule, she engaged a nurse and had her husband put in her own car and she drove him and the nurse on a two-day journey to Atlanta where he was put under the care of specialists.

His failure to improve as rapidly as she hoped on his return to Haines City brought Mrs. Pryor to the point where she had to decide between being a nurse or a club woman.

Veterans Discuss Conversion of War Time Insurance Policies

Conversion of war-time life insurance before July 1, 1923 into a permanent form of insurance with the United States government was emphasized at the meeting of the Outagamie council of the American legion at the Kimberly hotel Thursday night. Policies not converted will be automatically void, it was said.

Preliminary reports were made by commanders of the legion posts on the child welfare survey as conducted by the organization to find defective and dependent children and to provide for them. The legion plans to care for the children of service men and to advise child welfare associations of other children in need of help.

Delegates from Kimberly, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Appleton were present. Appleton delegates were H. J. Pettigrew, and John Hantschel. A. C. Bosser, Carl Becker and Joseph Wittmer.

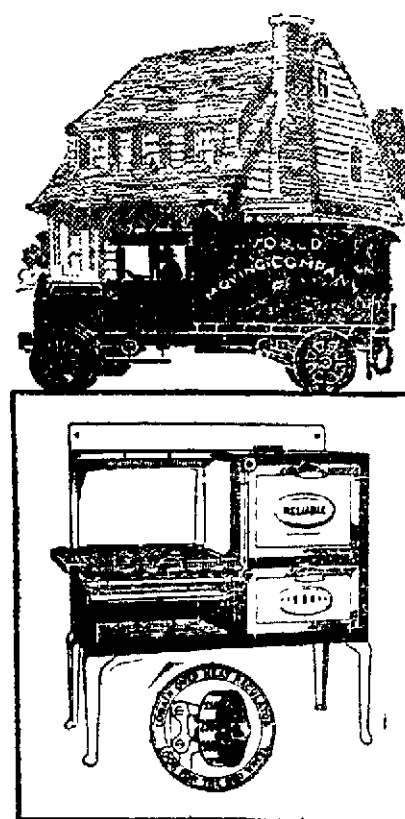

It was decided to send two Outagamie Co former service men to the rehabilitation camp at Tomahawk lake for the season starting April 1. The next meeting of the council will be held the latter part of April, but the place was not decided.

Y. M. C. A. KEEPS OUT OF POLITICS, ROSEBUSH SAYS

Appleton Man Describes Genius of Brotherhood at Minnesota State Meeting

ROSEBUSH
An executive and giving him a wide power to act, Mr. Rosebush said the Y. M. C. A. has a "marvelous combination which exists in its leadership, because of a peculiar combination of business men on the one hand and skilled secretaries on the other hand." It is, like the Anti-Saloon League, "omnipartisan and interdenominational," he declared.

REMAINS NEUTRAL

"The Brotherhood has shown real genius," he said, "by its consistent policy of working in the zone of agreement when confronted with grave social and economic controversies, while steadily endeavoring all the time to widen the zone of such agreement." The association has steadily refused to take sides on the question of the eight hour day or unemployment insurance, or organized labor, or capitalism versus socialism. Such partisanship has not seemed necessary or advisable to its leadership. All over the world parties are now being reconstituted, either to defend or attack the existing social order. Witness the new labor movement in Great Britain under MacDonald, the rise of the socialism in France under Herriot and in Germany under Ebert, together with the attempt recently of the American Federation of Labor to create a distinct pro-labor party. Under such circumstances no necessity exists for the Young Men's Christian association to become either an advocate of capitalism or socialism or any intermediate order, since every citizen now has a chance to express himself on these matters through political parties expressly organized for that purpose.

The Association has consistently adopted and followed the doctrine of working in an ever-widening zone of agreement. The fundamental question which it has to solve is the relative worthwhileness of what it is doing as against what it might accomplish in the field of social and economic controversy.

FOUR DIVISIONS

"As a student of world affairs I observe today that the world is split in four great directions. First, by economic and social controversies, some of which have just been mentioned. Second, by religious controversies, such as have been occurring in Ireland and the United States. Third, by racial prejudices such as broke out in South Africa during the war, and in Chicago at the time of the race riots; and fourth, by national or local patriotism as illustrated by the controversies between Egypt and England, India and England, and the Balkans and the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Instead of an express and divided public opinion upon these four great controversies, the Brotherhood contents itself with emphasizing the harmonies and con-

ROEMER GETS JOB OF PRINTING BALLOTS

Chris Roemer Estate Printing Co. was awarded the contract for printing 27,000 ballots for the spring election of Outagamie-co., according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The Roemer company's bid was $42.75. Only one other bid was turned in, the Meyer Press Co. offering to do the work for $41.

The printers bid on 21,000 official and 3,000 sample ballots, which must be delivered by April 1, for the election on April 6.

Pioneer Club Meets

A program of spring activities was outlined at a meeting of the Baptist Pioneer club Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Officers for the coming year elected last week were in charge. They are Roger Heble, president; Sidney Shannon, vice president; Norman Clayton, secretary; Norman Kneip, treasurer; Clarence Tremblay, sergeant at arms; Russell Smith, captain of the club track team. Henry Sands, a freshman at Lawrence college is the leader of the club.

Mrs. Joseph Willitt and daughter Rita are visiting Mrs. Otto Wolter.

Records that bind men and nations together.

Speaking of the development of great highways, parks, and majestic buildings in America, Mr. Rosebush said:

"It is now clear that America at this moment is entering on a culminating period of aesthetic loveliness which will constitute our golden age in art in all of its manifestations."

"The Young Men's Christian Association is keeping step with this new emotional outburst in America. Emphasis upon loveliness and charm is now rapidly being laid in the construction of our newest association building, as witnessed at Dayton, Minneapolis, Shreveport, Green Bay and Honolulu."

SEEK TO SERVE, BOYS ARE URGED

W. H. Wones, State Boys Work Secretary of Y. M. C. A., Talks to Club Here

W. H. Wones, Milwaukee, state Y. M. C. A. boys work secretary, who was a guest Thursday, spoke to the Sophomore Triangle club on the objects of Triangle and H-Y groups at the regular meeting Thursday evening. Mr. Wones said service should be the biggest thing clubs should take into consideration in their activities.

The World Brotherhood campaign to raise funds for Y. M. C. A. work in foreign fields was characterized by the speaker as the greatest and finest project which the Y. M. C. A. boys of Wisconsin have to devote their energies to at the present time. The quota set for the Appleton boys is $100 and Mr. Wones urged that an even larger amount be raised here, saying that if this was done the boys in other associations of the state could look to Appleton as an example of what can be done in such a worth while campaign.

The Triangle members decided to cooperate in the interclub track meet scheduled for Saturday, April 3, and will contribute their share toward the trophy which will be awarded to the club winning first place. The meeting was preceded by a supper.

CARPENTERS MEET TO STUDY WORKING RULES

Working rules for next season will be discussed at the meeting of District Council of Carpenters at 8 o'clock Saturday night in Trades and Labor Council hall. About two thirds of the carpenters throughout the valley are working at the present time, according to J. C. Meilke.

WHAT THE GREAT MINDS OF ALL TIME SAY ABOUT MUSIC

MUSIC is an enjoyment (in France) the deprivation of which with us cannot be calculated. I am almost ready to say it is the only thing which from my heart I envy them and which, in spite of all the authority of the Decalogue, I do covet.

—THOMAS JEFFERSON
To Mr. Bellini

LET the love for literature, painting, sculpture, architecture, and, above all, music enter into your lives.

—THEODORE ROOSEVELT

"THE Battle Cry of Freedom" got more men to enlist in the United States Army than fifty times one hundred and fifty of our best recruiting officers could ever do.

—ABRAHAM LINCOLN

THE man who disparages music as a luxury and non-essential is doing the nation an injury. Music now, more than ever before, is a national need. There is no better way to express patriotism than through music.

—WOODROW WILSON

Music and Our Presidents

IN the days of Washington and Jefferson our ancestors' energy and time were devoted to the supplying of their material needs and the upbuilding of our country. Music was only for the cultivated few.

When the Civil War crisis rent our land in twain and threatened the nation's very existence the great mind and heart of Lincoln recognized in music a spiritual power which could be translated into a tremendous force.

What music did for the union in 1861 it did a hundredfold in 1917, for the marvelous development of musical instruments in recent years has brought music within the reach of all.

The memory of how music served us in the World War is too fresh in our minds to need comment. In the midst of confusion and conflicting ideas, the analytical intellect of President Wilson was quick to recognize the potency of music. He pronounced it an essential and urged its spread.

But you—do you really know what it will do for you and for each member of your family? You need it and need it now. You cannot have too much music any more than you can have too much happiness or cheery sunshine, too much sympathy with your fellow-man, too much understanding of the fullness of life.

MINERS PREDICT WRIGLEY'S TOY WILL YIELD ORE

Three Mines on Island May Prove Out Valuable Holdings

Avon, Santa Catalina Island.—A time will come, say veteran miners, when the "toy" mine being developed by William Wrigley, Jr., will surprise the quibblers who have referred to it as "just another of Wrigley's playthings."

Take the small boy who overhauls a clock, so the owner of this island, some thirty miles off the coast of Southern California, is digging the minerals out of his domain to learn what it is made of.

Wrigley's mining efforts have gone only to the extent of "scratching" the surface of three deposits in the Mt. Black Jack, the Quarry and the D. M. Renton veins. Some twenty of these veins have been disclosed in the development period of two years.

Silvery gleams in a small chunk of rock which he was about to hurl at a troublesome wild cat caught Wrigley's eye one day while he was hiking on Mt. Black Jack. It led to the discovery of the mine which bears the name of the mountain. A 400-foot shaft and laterals today show pay streaks as wide as seven and half feet running $40, and narrower veins carrying up to $347 a ton, evidenced by smelter returns.

The "Quarry," second prospect worked and originally the source of paving materials for mainland roads, yielded four and a half foot vein of sulphide milling ore carrying silver.

Mother Nature concealed the most promising of the "diggings" some 1500 feet up the side of a mountain. Looking for the mine, Wrigley's party had to climb a steep, rocky trail, and in some places, on three levels, 200 feet in, veins were found twenty-eight to thirty-six feet across. These are in the Renton, which shows promise of being the richest producer yet discovered, for the veins are widening as work progresses.

A 100-ton flotation mill, utilizing salt water in the concentration process, has been installed at White's Landing at the foot of a recently completed four mile road from the Black Jack mine.

The island, one of a chain that until a hundred years ago harbored an Indian civilization, at one time entertained a rush in a small way like the one to California in '49. Mining on a grand scale was prosecuted but no attempt was made to pursue ore bodies to any substantial depth. The next major attempt was undertaken by an English syndicate but this attempt failed. Wrigley purchased the island several years ago.

FARMER INJURES LEG WORKING IN SWAMP

Elmer Heiden, town of Black Creek farmer who dislocated his knee a month ago while loading wood on his farm is recuperating at the home of relatives in Appleton. He came here several days ago to have an X-ray examination. Mr. Heiden had braced himself to lift an especially heavy piece of wood on a truck when his knee suddenly dislocated. The accident happened near the Heiden home and Mr. Heiden was alone at the time.

Neighbors found the injured man after about an hour and while helping him into a car the knee joint slipped back in place. However, during the last month the knee has been causing Mr. Heiden considerable trouble and suffering and he has even found it difficult to support his own weight on the injured leg.

Now Spring is Here. Let's Plan the Garden.

The true gardener believes in preparedness. With the arrival of the first warm spring days he is ready for his annual plunge into garden work.

March is actually the month of garden inspiration. The home gardener begins his plans of seed catalogues, plans the arrangement of his garden, decides on his crops, and places his order for seeds and garden implements.

One of the greatest possible helps in gardening is the Government Garden Book which this Bureau has for free distribution. It is the official, illustrated garden guide published by the Department of Agriculture.

A plot of ground, even if it's only a city back yard, plus this book and a little work, means fresh vegetables all summer long.

Start the spring right by sending for your garden booklet today. Enclose two cents in stamps for return postage.

Frederic J. Haskin, Director, The Appleton Post-Crescent, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C. I enclose herewith two cents in stamps for return postage on a free copy of "THE GARDEN BOOKLET."

STUDY WEATHER IN EXPLORATORY COURSE

How Weather Affects Us is the subject of an exploratory course recently completed by Werner Witte, teacher of general science at Roosevelt Junior high school, and the plan indicates those phases and interpretations of science which the student comes in contact with every day according to Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools.

This course on weather and climate was given at Roosevelt school this year, but the plan offered to Mr. Rohan this week was a partly reorganized and perfected course of study. It was said, one of the practical problems studied in the plan is, How Can We Forecast Weather Without Instruments? Other chapters considered: How Weather Affects Us, Air and Its Properties, Why Does Temperature Change, Why Does Wind Blow, How Does Moisture Get Into the Air, The United States Weather Bureau and Its Work, and Weather Lore.

The material for the course was secured from the United States Weather Bureau in Washington, D. C., by Mr. Witte, from various textbooks in general science and from personal experience.

Folks Here Use Average Of 288 Quarts Of Milk Yearly

More than a pint of milk a day or 288 quarts a year is the average milk consumption per person in the city of Appleton, according to figures compiled by Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer of Appleton. However, less than two tablespoons of cream a day are averaged by the population of Appleton, for 580 quarts of cream are consumed by the approximately 22,000 persons in the city each day. This report of the cream and the 11,960 quarts of milk consumed each day was computed from the sales of milk dealers in Appleton, from farmers who sell dairy products here, and from individuals who own cows which supply themselves and perhaps a few other families with the milk and cream.

The average milk consumption here is more than twice that of the entire country, judging from data collected by the United States department of labor in Washington, D. C., which indicates that an average of 321 quarts of milk is used each year per family. Taking the average family as four persons, less than a cup of milk was consumed by each individual per day during the year 1918-1919. The study was made of 11,900 families; it was said.

The Appleton housewife may purchase ten quarts of milk for a dollar, with the average price per quart of milk at 10 cents, but the average price for the country in 1925 of 12.8 cents per quart, would allow only 7.2 quarts of milk to be purchased for the housewife's dollar.

With the average production of milk of one cow in a year as slightly over 5,000 pounds or about 2,500 quarts, the Appleton supply of milk would come from about 1,740 cows. In other words, about 13.2 persons are supplied with milk by one cow.

RABBITS KILLED AS CROP MENACE

Annual Loss from Rabbits Runs Into Millions of Dollars

Denver, (AP)—To the East Side New Yorker who buys none too fresh rabbit meat out of barrels, the annual slaughter on the western plains would seem a waste. To the Easterner, whose "bunny" hunting is limited by law, it might seem a blessing to have so much gone about.

Rabbits are not game to westerners, however. They are considered a pest. Consequently, more than 500,000 "jacks" have been killed in Colorado this winter, and the other western states have followed suit. Thousands of them are killed annually.

Rabbits are herbivorous, and enormous eaters for their size. Contrary to some opinion, they do not subsist altogether on tender lettuce leaves, parsley and carrots.

They eat almost everything that grows in the fields or gardens. They now down beans, peas, lettuce, celery, beet tops and even corn and wheat. When they can not get anything else they eat grass. They have been known to ruin groves of young trees in nurseries.

The annual crop loss because of rabbits runs into millions of dollars. As a result, the last Colorado legislature passed a law permitting county commissioners to offer bounties for dead "jacks". Several counties this year paid a cent to a cent and half for every pair of ears. Boys earn pocket money killing them, but nearly all the casualties are accountable to drives by farmers.

Townpeople join in, and the drives, usually held on Sundays, resemble old time basket dinners. Men, women and children bring their dinners and stay all day. Rabbit campaigns have become community institutions.

Washington County's drives are representative of Colorado. More than 50,000 have been killed there so far this winter and it is estimated 25,000 more will die before summer.

A successful drive requires an army of hunters. Near Akron, 1000 persons herded the rabbits in a Y-shaped woven wire trap half a mile across at the mouth. Not a gun was used, or allowed, the trapped rabbits being dispatched with clubs and stones.

Every Christmas thousands of poor families throughout the state dine on rabbit meat, provided from the drives. At this time of year most of the rabbits so obtained are turned into hog feed.

Next year, the East may get a shot at some of the long eared creatures. The Colorado American Legion plans to advertise the west by turning loose 5,000 on the city of Philadelphia at the Legion convention next fall. Previously, the former soldiers will catch them alive by means of the wire trap and ship them east in box cars.

and keep working to accomplish the task in hand, was the advice of the educator.

Most of the people who are successful in life are those who have paid the price of success, and that price is hard work and intelligent direction toward the accomplishment of the ideal, Mr. Rohan elaborated. Examsples of men who have striven for ideals and have been successful in the world, cited by the speaker, were Marion Le Roy Burton, former president of the University of Minnesota, Abraham Lincoln and Henry Ford.

STAGE AND SCREEN

RICH GOWNS SEEN IN BIG PHOTOPLAY "FIFTH AVENUE"

The display of the most fashionable creations of New York's finest modistes, is an exceptionally interesting feature of the Robert G. Vignola picture production, "Fifth Avenue," featuring Marguerite De La Motte and Allan Forrest, which will be the unusual photoplay attraction at Fischers Appleton theater next week.

The story of this picture not only shows the famous thoroughfare as it is, but it affords spectators an intimate glimpse of the hidden life which pulsates beneath the glistening surface. The very name of Fifth Avenue conjures up visions of luxury and splendor, of style, of the glamor of great wealth, of the romance of serene, unquestioned power.

But there is another angle to Fifth Avenue, and it was this side that was encountered by Barbara Delham, sweet, beautiful and unselfish, when she went from a Southern plantation to make her fortune in the great city. Caught in the whirl of an unaccustomed life, she encountered experiences which kept her in a turmoil of mental stress.

Many of the scenes in the picture were filmed on Fifth Avenue, and there is also a magnificent style show which takes place in one of New York's smart gown shops. Besides Marguerite De La Motte and Allan Forrest, the cast includes Louise Dresser, William V. Mong and other favorites.

This photoplay is praised by nearly every critic and we await its local showing with eager anticipation.

"HEARTS AND SPURS" HAS MANY THRILLS

If you are looking for thrills, if it is red-blooded romance you want in your motion picture entertainment, do not miss Buck Jones in "Hearts and Spurs" at the New Bijou today and Saturday. This screen version of Jackson Gregory's is all that can be desired in western screen stories.

The story is replete with adventurous moments and terrific action. In transferring the novel to the screen, the activity of the plot has been greatly enhanced. Buck is just the kind of a man you would imagine the hero to be. He is rugged, lives and breathes the great outdoors, and conducts himself like a true westerner.

The big fox star's forte is performing hazardous deeds. The present story gives him ample opportunity to make literally through perilous ventures. There are fights aplenty—hard fast rides—more fights.

Carol Lombard plays the leading role opposite Buck with good understanding and Freeman Wood, William Davidson, Jean LaMott and Robert Lattifield all give sterling performances.

"ETTERA GHOST" IS WEIRD THRILLER

"The Phantom of the Opera," Lon Chaney's much-heralded successor spectacle to "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and one of the most daring depictions in screen portrayals ever attempted, is coming to the Elite theater for 5 days starting Monday. It is a spectacular mystery story of Paris, in which a complete operatic performance, staged in a huge replica of the Paris Opera House, largest in the world, is compared with weird and grotesque adventures in the great cellars and catacombs.

Lon Chaney plays "The Phantom," a strange creature of the shadows, in a makeup that eclipses his weird disguise as "Quasimodo" in the Hugo classic. Mary Philbin, plays the opera singer whom he kidnaps into his underground stronghold, and Norman Kerry plays her lover and rescuer.

A remarkable cast is seen in the principal roles, and fully four thousand people take part in this massive, the brilliant spectacle on the Grand staircase of the Opera, and the gala performance of "Faust" staged in the opera house proper.

CALL "TUMBLEWEEDS" TYPICAL HART MOVIE

"The finest picture of his career to date," is the general pronouncement of those who have witnessed advance runnings of "Tumbleweeds." William S. Hart's first production for the United Artists Corporation release. In the principal role of Don Carver, Bill Hart is the typical character with which he has become identified—photographic portrayal of the formidable but chivalrous westerner.

This story by Hal G. Evans, which was adapted for the screen by C. Gardner Sullivan, is a particularly powerful epic drama of the last days of the American homesteaders—the settling of the Cherokee Land Strip between Kansas and Oklahoma, in 1889.

"Tumbleweeds" will be seen for the first time in this city at the Elite Theater on Saturday and Sunday.

Are You Breathing Healthful Air?

The Fragrant Warmth of a June Morning—or the Torrid Heat of the Desert—Which

"And what is so rare as a Day in June"
James Russell Lowell

A HOME HOT BLAST FURNACE

MANY people think of the desert as the driest place on earth. A waste of shifting sand; enduring the tropical rays of a cloudless sun, day after day throughout the year—surely it is dry enough. The popular conception is voiced in the proverb, "As dry as the Sahara Desert."

Yet the air from the average hot air furnace, insufficiently humidified, is even drier.

This dry super-heated air is really but 30% to 40% of full saturation when no water at all is used in the vapor pan; while the average relative humidity of the Sahara is 55%; and the air in your garden on a beautiful June morning is fully 78%.

The HOME Hot Blast Furnace guarantees the healthful breath of June in your home at all times.

A big oversize vapor or water pan, convenient to reach, easy to fill, amply sufficient to humidify your entire house—is placed in plain view.

So large is it that should you forget it occasionally, it will still keep your home healthful.

There are no freak attachments—nothing to get out of order—just a big sensible receptacle which guarantees health, comfort and low fuel consumption to yourself and your family.

All HOME Furnaces are factory installed and guaranteed to heat your home. You must be satisfied.

The address of our local factory branch manager is given below. He will gladly make a personal investigation of your home and quote you a close price. Better get in touch with him at once.

Some Startling Facts about Proper Humidity

The big, sensible HOME Furnace Vapor Pan at all times GUARANTEES your healthful home comfort.

A number of humidifying attachments have been placed on the market. None are fool-proof. None have proven so satisfactory, day-in-and-day-out, as the properly-proportioned, properly-located vapor pan of ample capacity.

The HOME vapor pan is absolutely fool proof; large enough for all ordinary and extraordinary requirements; is in plain sight, is not likely to be overlooked; and is so placed that the air in HOME-heated homes is uniformly like June.

This means comfort and health for every member of your family and accounts in part for the large savings in fuel bills reported by delighted Home users everywhere.

COMFORT WITH ECONOMY. Very dry air has an unusual affinity for moisture. When brought into contact with the skin, rapid evaporation results. The heat necessary for this evaporation must come from somewhere, and a large portion actually does come from the skin. Consequently, a temperature of 70 degrees with the air very dry may mean "that chilly feeling"; whereas, with the proper humidity you would be perfectly comfortable at 70 degrees.

A SIMPLE PROOF. Did you ever enter a chilly bathroom and turn on the hot water in the tub? After the steam had had a chance to permeate the atmosphere of the room you decided it was not so cold after all. But the actual temperature was the same after as before. What really happened was that the proper humidity being established, the rapid evaporation from and chilling of your skin ceased, and you were comfortable.

A FUEL SAVER. Now, with "that chilly feeling" due to dry air, one naturally opens the drafts, burning more fuel and raising the actual temperature to a point where some degree of comfort can be secured. This means an unnecessary consumption of fuel; an overworked furnace; and added expense for both furnace and fuel.

A FURNITURE SAVER. It is also true that continued presence of super-heated air in a house tends to devite lize the glue in the furniture, often causing the joints to loosen unexpectedly, and frequently destroying many valuable pieces. Consequently, from a dollars-and-cents standpoint the water pan in your furnace is a money saver—Use it!

A HEALTH SAVER. But the comfort loss and the money loss are not the only losses when the water pan is neglected. The dry air breathed into the nose, throat and lungs produces the same rapid evaporation from, or chilling of the mucous surfaces, as on the skin itself. This predisposes to catarrh in the head, tickling coughs and colds in the throat, and bronchitis in the lungs. When you consider that this chilling within and without takes place at the same time, it is no wonder that people often contract serious colds so unexpectedly.

THE HOME THE PERFECT HEATING PLANT. Where a vapor pan of ample dimensions is provided and kept filled, the relative humidity of warm air warmth reaches very nearly that of a June day morning. This means not only comfort and health for every member of your family; but a very great saving in fuel bills as explained above.

Every Home Furnace is provided with such a pan.

I can heartily recommend the HOME Hot Blast Furnace to any one contemplating a new heating plant. Our HOME has been in service for over a year and we like it better every day. We saved nearly two tons of coal last winter and every one knows what a severe winter it was.

HOLMES SPEAKS TO HI-Y PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

Green Bay Boys Will Be Guests of Local Club at Program of Games

Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak to the Appleton and Green Bay Hi-Y clubs on Service Saturday evening at the association building it was announced at a meeting of the local club Wednesday evening. Plans for entertaining about 25 Green Bay Hi-Y boys Saturday afternoon and evening were discussed.

A series of competitive games between the two clubs will be arranged for the afternoon. Billiards, pool, cue, roque, basketball, bowling, and checkers will be among the games played. When the local boys visited the Green Bay club in January they were the victors in all these games with the exception of billiards. A program of musical numbers and readings is being arranged for the evening's entertainment, in addition to Dr. Holmes talk.

It was decided to give a minstrel show within the next month to raise money for the club treasury. No definite date has been set for the entertainment.

It was suggested at the meeting that an amendment be adopted to permit members of the Sophomore Triangle club to be initiated into the Hi-Y organization before the close of the school year this spring instead of waiting until they become juniors in high school next fall. The amendment will be voted on at the meeting next week. It has been customary for the members of the Sophomore Triangle club to automatically become members in Hi-Y when they become juniors in high school.

After the club meeting the nominating committee met and selected a ticket candidates for officers for next year. The candidates will be announced at the meeting next week and the election will take place at the first meeting after spring vacation. The nominating committee is made up of the senior members of the executive committee.

OPEN SEAT SALE FOR EASTER FESTIVAL

Reserved seats for the annual Easter music festival to be held Sunday evening, April 4, at Lawrence Memorial chapel, will go on sale at Bell's Drug store Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Tickets have been distributed among members of churches which are sponsoring the festival, and some have also been placed on sale at the Y. M. C. A. The prices for tickets range from 25 cents to 75 cents.

The oratorio to be presented at this year's festival will be Rossini's famous "Stabat Mater," which will be sung by a chorus of 200 voices led by Carl J. Waterman, dean of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. The singers will represent the choirs of all the churches taking part in the program and also the Lawrence college choir, the schola cantorum.

Three prominent Chicago soloists have been engaged to assist in the presentation of the oratorio. They are Isabel Richardson Moller, dramatic soprano; George S. Cutherton, tenor; and Barbara Wait, contralto.

PREPARE SCHEDULE FOR SHOP SERVICES

George F. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is arranging a schedule of eight or ten lenten shop meetings to be conducted by local ministers in industrial establishments here during Holy week. The meetings will be held for about a half an hour during the noon lunch period. They are sponsored by the religious work committee of the Y. M. C. A.

Last year the meetings were so successful that numerous requests have been received from industrial executives for similar meetings to be held in their plants. In addition to the addresses there will be a cornet duet by Mark Catlin and William Meyer at each gathering.

Rohan, superintendent of schools, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Emma Fynn, teacher in the first grade of Lincoln school, Miss Katherine Conway, teacher in the first grade of Washington school, and Miss Agnes Tracy, teacher in the first grade in Fourth ward school, gave special reports on two chapters in the textbook.

THE YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, middle-aged business man, is reminded by his family that the next day is his son, JAMES RAND'S 27th birthday. A theater party is planned to include Henry Rand, his wife, his daughter, JANET, and Jimmy, as well as BARRY COLVIN, Janet's fiancé.

The following evening Henry Rand is not at home at his usual hour. Police telephone that he has been found dead in the cheap Canfield Hotel.

Police believe it is suicide, as the body is found in a locked room filled with gas. They find a woman's handkerchief.

The coroner arrives and discovers a small welt at the back of Henry Rand's head. While they are talking, Jimmy discovers the yellow stub of a theater ticket, evidently used two nights before.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

Jimmy held out the yellow stub to the police sergeant.

"That means," he said, deeply excited, "that the man who murdered my father, was in this theater the night before last. Howard," he turned to the reporter, "you were right when you said a murderer invariably left some sort of clue."

"And a fine clue it is," scorned the sergeant. "Where in the devil is the Paragon Theater? It isn't in this town."

"We'll find out where it is then," Jimmy answered him. "Well at least know where Mr. H. A. Jones comes from."

"This begins more and more to look like a real story," observed Howard. "The mystery of the theater ticket, eh? No, let's see. Our inspired headline writers would probably think of it as the mystery of the yellow stub. Let me take a look at it, will you, Rand?"

"Row H, Section C, Seat 31," he said. "Paragon Theater. Good only on Monday night, November 25. Orchestra." He held it out to Jimmy.

"Your man at least knew a good seat when he saw one."

Jimmy turned to the night clerk called Bide. "I've got to use the telephone. Is there one around? I don't see any in the room."

"There's a wall phone right here in the hall."

Jimmy rang the number of his home. He heard Barry's voice in the receiver.

"Hello, Barry? It's true, Barry. I know, Jim. The reporters were here for pictures. . . . God! I'm sorry."

"I'm coming right home, Barry," said Jimmy, and hung up.

Barry's arm was around Jimmy almost before he was in the door. "Your mother's in bed, Jim. She went all to pieces—naturally. Janet's with her, trying to comfort her. I'll never cease to marvel at the way Janet took it. Never a tear. Not a sign of a breakdown. Just like a little soldier, Jim."

"I'm afraid of that kind of grief, Barry. Knowing Janet as I do, I know she'll hold her head high and eat her heart out rather than give way. I'd rather she let it out and get it over with. Stubborn blood in her."

"Road blood, Jim!" Barry patted Jimmy's shoulder. He was crying. "I feel it too, old man."

"And this," Jimmy was saying, "is the only worth while clue we found." He produced the yellow stub and laid it on the table in front of him. "I suppose I ought to turn it over to the police. I simply walked out with it in my pocket. You know as much about the whole thing now as I do."

"What a mystery," murmured Barry softly, "and what a damn shame. A man without an enemy in the world to meet that kind of a death—and in a place like that."

Jimmy considered. "Apparently he had an enemy somewhere, Barry, though God knows where. Perhaps it's in the city where this theater is—wherever that may be. I suppose the only way to locate the Paragon Theater is to wire the police force of every city we can think of. Nothing at all out of the ordinary in the name Paragon. I suppose there are dozens of theaters with that name."

Barry picked up the torn yellow ticket and idly studied it. "Monday night, November 25. That shows it couldn't have been in the room very long, at least. Here's something else." He held it up closer to his eyes.

"Wait a minute, Jim. Look here!" he exclaimed. "Budd & Halter Printing Co., Chicago. Right there in fine print, under the word orchestra. Read it for yourself."

Jimmy picked up the stub and read it. "Funny I didn't notice it before," he mused. "I suppose it was the abominable light in that terrible room." He shuddered.

"We'll find out now where your theater's located," declared Barry. "I'm sending a telegram right now to Budd & Halter."

He fished a piece of paper out of his pocket and went to work with a pencil. "How's this?" he read.

"Your name on stub of yellow theater ticket issued by Paragon Theater. Important that police know where Paragon Theater is located. Please wire."

He moved over to the telephone. "I'm sending it right now, Jim."

The coroner's verdict was murder. The autopsy, he wrote in his report, disclosed a concussion of the brain, although the direct cause of Henry Rand's death was asphyxiation by gas.

"The blow on the head," he said to Jimmy later, "might not have been sufficient in itself to cause your father's death, although it was a serious case of concussion."

"However, there is no doubt that he was struck violently at the back of the head with some weapon. He couldn't have sustained that kind of an injury in a fall. He never had a chance to regain consciousness with all that gas in the room. A suicide theory simply isn't plausible."

"I knew it wasn't, Coroner," Jimmy walked over to the window of the little office in the morgue and looked out. His jaw set grimly as he fought back tears that welled in his gray eyes. "I knew it all the time. 'It couldn't have been suicide. If you had known my father—'"

He stopped abruptly. He was unable to go on. Still staring out into the street, he clenched his fists. He clenched them tightly. Till the knuckles showed bloodless and white. The grief within him was beginning to make way for dull, hot anger.

The coroner still stood in front of his desk. "I never knew your father, Mr. Rand, but it he was anything like his son I know he must have been a man worth knowing."

Jimmy didn't answer him right away. When he turned away from the window, he gazed steadily into the other man's eyes. He said, simply:

"If I ever find the man who did that thing, I am going to kill him." He spoke slowly, quietly, but with cold finality.

"These things hurt, of course, Mr. Rand, but I would try to forget that part of it if I were you. After all, you know, the law handles these things for us."

"The law," shot back Jimmy, "would give my father's murderer a chance. I don't propose to. I would give him no more chance than he gave my father. I'd shoot him in the back. I wouldn't be satisfied with just killing him. I'd murder him."

"Oh well," the coroner shrugged his shoulders. "You're young yet, Mr. Rand."

"I was 27 years old yesterday," said Jimmy. "But I'm considerably more than a day older today."

"Poor Dad. . . . Why, we were down at his office today and yesterday until two o'clock in the afternoon. His stenographer said he got a phone call about two and left the office immediately afterward."

"Did they know who phoned him?"

"No, Miss Fry—that's his stenographer—said he seemed a little pale and she thought he might be going out for a walk in the fresh air. He didn't say where he was going—just said he expected to be back in an hour or two."

"And you think that's the call that turned him to his death?"

"No doubt about it in my mind. Probably whoever called did so from a pay station and met him in front of the Canfield Hotel."

"But the day clerk—he said he didn't see your father come in."

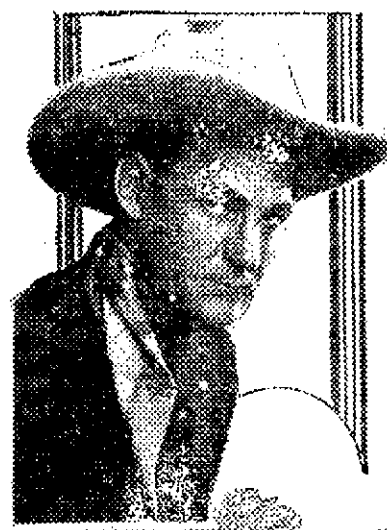

"No reason why he should. In the first place, he isn't behind the desk all the time. And there's a stairway right off the entrance, that anybody can go up without being seen from where the clerk usually stands."

Jimmy picked up his hat. "Well, I'm going home. . . . There's the funeral tomorrow, and a million things to be done."

"How is your mother taking it?" asked the coroner.

"Pretty badly. She's in bed. We've had the doctor. With my sister it's different. She's stood up under it better than most men would."

"There'll be police at the funeral tomorrow, of course—in plain clothes. They always make it a point, on the wild hunch, you know, that they'll find some known crook or thug around that they can question. It's a known fact, that the ordinary run of murderer has a morbid curiosity in everything in any way related to his crime. . . . More than one has been picked up at his victim's funeral. I might be there myself, Mr. Rand—if you don't mind."

BUCK JONES IN "HEARTS AND STUBS" BY ERNEST LYNN. A. WALLACE, FOR PRODUCTION

AT NEW BLOU TODAY AND SATURDAY

"Of course not, Coroner. You've been kind. . . . Everybody has—very kind. Goodbye."

"Goodbye."

On the way home Jimmy pondered until his head ached over the possible identity of the man who had registered as H. A. Jones. . . .

This man, he was satisfied, was his father's murderer.

But what possible motive could there have been? He dismissed the one of robbery. His father's pocket-book had been intact. . . . Black mail? There was nothing in his father's life, he knew, to entertain the thought.

Perhaps he reasoned Henry Rand had possessed a secret that somebody else feared him for. It was possible. At any rate, the whole thing the phone call to Henry Rand's office and the room in the Canfield Hotel was so obviously a trap.

He was still puzzling over the problem as he turned in on the board walk in front of the Rand home and opened the door. His sister Janet was standing in the hall, a composed Janet, but with dark shadows beneath her eyes, shadows that told of sleeplessness. She held an opened telegram in her hand.

"What does it mean, Jimmy?" She held it out to him.

He read it: "Print tickets for several Paragon Theaters. However, Paragon Theater in Milwaukee only one using yellow stock. Budd & Halter."

"It means," said Jimmy, pocketing the telegram, "that I'm leaving for Milwaukee tomorrow night."

Three Million Cars Junked Every Year

Such an authority as Petroleum Age estimates that the demise of three million motor vehicles every year is due in a large measure to faulty lubrication and greasing.

Cheap cars, expensive cars—three million of them—sent to the scrap heap for want of the right oil.

You may have considered lubrication unimportant. Oil is the life blood of the engine—as the impressive statement quoted above strikingly proves.

You will not realize "full value" from your car investment, if faulty lubrication sends it to the scrap heap ahead of time.

Many repair bills and many bills for over-hauling are the direct result of failure to appreciate the importance of proper lubrication.

No motorist is deliberately careless about so important a question as lubrication, but many are thoughtlessly careless.

It is a simple matter to keep your car perfectly oiled at all times. Use Polarine!

You can benefit from the years of scientific work of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) staff of lubricating engineers.

Consult chart At Any Standard Oil Service Station or Authorized Garage. It will tell you the exact grade of Polarine to give perfect lubrication in your individual car.

Drain your crankcase. Cleanse your motor thoroughly with Polarine Flushing Oil, and refill with the correct grade of Polarine as specified. Do this regularly and at frequent intervals and your car will last longer.

Correct and scientific lubrication pays!

Senators Still Retain Their Official Snuffbox

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington — On a ledge against the wall, at one end of the vice president's rostrum in the United States senate chamber, just alongside a door leading into the senator's lobby, a box of snuff reposes.

Nobody can remember when that box—no, not that particular box but a box—of snuff wasn't to be found there.

As a senate institution, probably it dates back to the time when John Adams called the first senate to order. Senators quite generally took snuff then. It was fashionable.

Now not a senator can be found who admits he's a snuff addict. Yet, strange to say, the senate snuff box empties itself regularly.

Since the very dawn of America's history as a nation a page has been assigned to keep the box stocked up with Copenhagen snuff.

It may not be as arduous a job in 1926 as it was in 1789 but about every two weeks it still has to be attended to.

Snuff doesn't evaporate.

One of two things must be true:

1—Either some of the present-day senators do take an occasional pinch despite their denials.

Or else:

2—The capitol's haunted by the ghosts of senators of long ago, who continue to help themselves out of that snuff box.

Let's hope the second hypothesis is correct.

It would be painful to think that any of the senators we have with us now are taking snuff on the sly and then prevaricating about it.

On the other hand, it's o.k. if a few senatorial ghosts patronize the snuff box. They're ex-senators. Ex-senators are entitled to the privilege of the floor. No rule says they must be "live ones." That isn't even required of those who aren't ex's.

And who grudges a senatorial ghost a sniff of snuff now and again, if he feels like it?

Unfortunately, however, in one respect the old timers must be reproached.

There were grafters among them.

It comes out in connection with this investigation into the history of the senate snuff box—not the identical one which does duty today, but the senate box as an institution.

Kindly note that box there on the ledge is a cheap papermache affair, with a little glazing over it and some decorations painted on, in darn poor taste and gaudy colors—the whole

HENDRICKS SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY TERM

Myron Hendricks, 1216 S. Jackson st., was sentenced to a term of from one year to 18 months at the Green Bay reformatory by Judge Edgar V. Werner, Thursday morning in circuit court. Hendricks pleaded guilty last week to taking indecent liberties with a 14-year old girl, but sentence was withheld. The offense took place in January. Hendricks filed a writ of prejudice against Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court, and was granted a change of venue.

Undersheriff Earl Schwartz was to take Hendricks to Green Bay Thursday afternoon.

There is a car to every seventh person in the United States, and it is predicted that with the next ten years the use of the automobile in this country will be all but universal.

Tecktonius Wood Stave Silo

Makes Healthful Silage---The Silage That Should Be Fed Your Cow-The Most Valuable Animal In The World!

Best Silo On Earth

One of the many patented exclusive features on a Tecktonius Silo.

Silage, like many things we eat, drink and use, such as sauerkraut, beer, wine, whiskey and tobacco, is a product resulting from fermentation. Fermentation is Nature's way of curing or preserving vegetable matter.

WHY? Because—wood is vegetable matter and man's experience through all the years has proved that wood is the one material which best fosters and promotes fermentation action.

There is only one kind of silage that should be fed, and that is—"Aged-in-the-wood" silage; silage that is free from the staint of dissolved cement or mortar.

Thousands of dairymen—men who have had years of experience with silos of all makes and kinds; men who are in a position to know the feeding value of good silage, made right, unhesitatingly recommend the Tecktonius Wood Stave Silo.

Let us demonstrate the advantages of a TECKTONIUS SILO, and quote price with terms that will be acceptable and satisfactory.

GRANT DIVORCE TO MRS. SIMPSON

Wife Is Given Custody of Eight Minor Children and Property Division

Mrs. Anna Simpson, Decatur, was granted divorce from her husband, George L. Simpson, Thursday morning in circuit court. Mrs. Simpson was given the custody of eight minor children, Viola, 16; Carl, 14; Elsie, 12; George, 10; Pearl, 9; Norman, 8; and Lucille, 7, and a division of the property.

The couple was married at Decatur on Oct. 21, 1905. Simpson's actions in beating her and using the language to her resulted in a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Simpson charged he constantly nagged her about household expenses and the number of children to feed and at one time told her to leave home as he could easily find another woman to take her place, the complaint alleged. At times he nagged her for "consecutive hours neglecting the farm work to do so, she charged and he taught the children to use language which they even directed against their mother. She was driven from her home at one time and came to Appleton to live, according to the complaint.

CONGREGATION TO VOTE ON NEW MEMBERSHIPS

A special business meeting of the congregation of the First Congregational church will be held next Thursday evening for the purpose of voting on membership applications and appointing a committee to act on membership during the summer months. It was decided at a meeting of the church cabinet, Wednesday evening. The business meeting next week will begin at 7:30 and will receive the annual sacramental service of the church, which will commence at 7:50.

The cabinet members discussed the Fifield lenten meetings sponsored for the church last week and felt that, although the attendance had not been as large as hoped for, the results justified the continuance of the plan. It was proposed to have the church sponsor such a plan again next year and it was suggested that other churches of the city be asked to join in the movement.

Berg, construct residence and garage at 767 W. Front st.

PERSONALS

CRYSTAL SET USED BY LONDON RADIO FANS

Washington (AP)—The radio crystal receiving set, which continues to receive mainly to the nearest broadcasting station, still is the predominant type used in the British Isles.

For the 12,000 British receivers, however, Department figures show that about seventy-five per cent are crystal sets. The British Government has shown some hesitancy in adding to its present number of broadcasting stations because of the possible effect on these sets.

Present indications are that the British Broadcasting Company, which conducts all broadcasting in Great Britain under contracts from the Government, probably will be bought by the Government at the expiration of its contract next year.

Radio Is Driving Dogs To Madness, Doctor Says

Radio is driving the dogs wild. A veterinarian has advanced the theory, and defends it with some vigor.

Of course it is only a theory, and as such it is open to discussion by other dog experts or radio fans. Dr. Tooley's theory to hold depends upon the belief that a dog is a natural radio receiver, that he can receive the radio receiving set does.

MUST PICK UP STATIC

Now while Dr. Tooley does not mention the possibility, we may expect, on this theory, to have dogs classified as superheterodynes, live like Neutrodyne Huls, Dr. Tooley in an article written for the American Veterinarian's Journal has not gone deeply into the mechanics of the translation of the radio impulse by the dog, but is basing his theory solely upon the actions of numerous dogs and the fact that radio is common enough.

From the veterinarian's description of the dogs when affected by radio it is apparent that they pick up a fair amount of static with the regular programs for the health of the dog is concerned by is perfectly well, but mentally. No! He has violent fits, he tears madly about, he chases turns around and around in circles, forever trying to elude some unknown force, something which roars, dings, clatters and groans in his sensitive ears. He pleads violently in his unspeakable way. His big beautiful eyes staring longingly into yours for help and sympathy. Yet, no one seems to understand.

The dogs' dislike for music is well known, and the disease, believed by Dr. Tooley, to be due to involuntary radio reception is called "Fright Disease." But for all that the canine is sometimes affected, no differently than the enthusiasts. Charleston lamed when good music is supplied in quantities.

THE EFFECTS OF JAZZ

The Charleston dancer will, as everyone knows, polish off a lot of floor space, and will continue for hours, upon occasion. The possibility of a dog tuning in on a hot orchestra from the sunny south and taking on with gyrations that carry him on for hours and for miles is suggested in the doctor's description of another case. He says:

"This particular dog was a fine Beagle. Intelligent, kind and a wonderful rabbit dog and he was a faithful as an animal could possibly be. The owner decided on a hunting trip and so of course the dog had to accompany him. He worked fine for about two hours when suddenly he stopped, seemed to be listening, shook his head and then made a dash and ran at a break neck pace without stopping to look right or left. The owner searched far and wide but to no avail. He mourned him as lost. Three months later the dog came home. To do this he had to travel over a hundred miles and he was little more than a skeleton, though perfectly sane. He knew his master the moment he spoke to him."

And then there is additional evidence.

VALLEY DENTISTS TO HEAR CHICAGO DOCTOR

Dr. William B. Harper, of Chicago, will talk on Alloy Restorations at the meeting of dentists of Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Appleton under the auspices of the Appleton Dental Study at Conway hotel at 5:30 Saturday evening. The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides. The Appleton organization is now a member of the Winnebago Outagamie-co Dental society, but the Outagamie-co dentists plan to withdraw from the joint organization at the state dental society meeting next summer and from a separate organization of Outagamie-co dentists only.

J. H. Wentz of Milwaukee, former president of Appleton, is visiting friends in Appleton.

Another, is the case of three dogs left in my hospital to board. They were all different breeds and different ages and all perfectly healthy in every way. Suddenly one day I noticed one of them shaking his head in a strange manner. He would listen or appear to be listening and all of a sudden turn round and round in a circle continually shaking his head and occasionally raising to listen. Now these three dogs were in cages side by side and one after the other were stricken with these strange attacks.

DOGS MYSTIFIED

"This is commonly termed 'fright disease.' The shock to some dogs is so great they are temporarily insane and many times are shot as mad dogs. Therefore, it is not impossible and quite probable that this agitation all over the country about radio dogs is caused by the music in the air and it is responsible for the mental agony of the canine. Does this seem improbable when radio messages can be received in a vault?"

POINT
 9 p. m.—River Falls vs Manitowish

Madison—It was another bad day for favorites in Wisconsin state high school basketball tournament Thursday, and as a result of the beating handed old man dope three of the four quintets going into the championship semi-finals tonight are dark horses ranging down the home stretch with noses high, after unexpected triumphs. Those quintets which remain in the running for the title are Appleton, Stevens Point, River Falls and Manitowish, with the possible exception of Manitowish, they were all expected to be bumped off before this, and even Manitowish was no decided pre-tournament favorite to cop from the powerful Portage five which it eliminated in the first round.

Probably the most surprising occurrence of the meet to date was the triumph Thursday night of River Falls over Shawano, 18-9, and the manner in which the triumph was secured was almost as surprising with the Shawano cagers performing indifferently after their great showing in the first round. River Falls piled up an 8-1 lead in the first half.

When Shawano began to move at something close to its usual speed and ran the count to 16-5 early in the second quarter River Falls resorted to an elaborate and prolonged stalling campaign, which lasted 12 minutes by the watch and which was generally credited with being responsible for the outcome.

Andrews, the lanky Shawano center who looked so good against Ladysmith, was stopped cold without a single field goal and Schumacher, another scoring ace, pulled only once from the goal. Wagner, guard, was the big noise for Shawano both offensively and defensively and he looks like a contender for all-tournament honors.

Another unexpected event, on the nights program was the close battle given the speedy little red devils from Manitowish by the fighting Monticello quintet. The Red Devils won 21-19, but they had their hands full doing it and brilliant Danny Peppard looped the winning basket just six seconds before the gun ended the melee.

In the nights consolation tilt Portage massacred Mt. Horeb, 36 to 13, and at present looms as the favorite for consolation honors the two Reboholz boys and Korok ran wild for Portage, and Captain Rus Reboholz was particularly impressive. There does not seem to be another center to challenge his supremacy unless he is Ashman of Appleton. Mr. Ashman is the fellow who was chiefly responsible for Appleton's slashing 18-14 conquest of Eau Claire in an afternoon title contest. Said conquest was another severe jolt for the doers who had figured Eau Claire as a likely finalist despite the loss of Everson, its captain and most dependable performer.

They had not counted on Ashman, however. The lad came through with six baskets, invariably perked up on the Appleton attack when things went bad, and turned in one of the nicest exhibitions of all round play witnessed during the day's pastime. Appleton's guards held Eau Claire to four field goals, all made from a guard position by Lowe.

In the other championship game of the afternoon, Stevens Point, Appleton opponent Friday night trimmed Superior Central, 17 to 12, in consolation set. Madison Central walloped Ladysmith, 32 to 16. La Crosse trimmed Fond du Lac, 15-11, and Wausau nipped Wausau 15-9.

BRAVES TO SHOOT FOR PLACE AMONG LEAGUE LEADERS

Boss Bancroft Looks for Much Improved Team in 1926 Old Loop Race

BY BILLY EVANS
 St. Petersburg, Fla.—The champions of the Florida League is what rival teams are calling the Boston Braves. During the spring training games, the Braves have soundly trounced the opposition, the American League clubs in particular.

Sitting on the bench with Manager Dave Bancroft as his team recently came from behind with a six-run rally to beat Washington. I commented on the smooth play of his club in these spring games.

Bancroft, one of the greatest short-stops baseball has ever known, a keen student of the game and a level-headed manager, is not being swept away with the success of the exhibition contests.

"Yes, my team does look pretty good and I am much pleased at the showing we are making, but I would rather see six victories for any one game during the season," he laughingly replied.

"I have a young club and it is ambitious. Young players respond more quickly to spring training. My pitchers seem a little farther advanced than the opposition. That explains our spring success."

"I am glad to be able to win consistently in these exhibition games, because it is supplying my club with a confidence in its ability that should help us during the season."

When you talk pennant, Bancroft interrupts with a "that's what I'm shooting at but I have no thought for 1926. We are on the way, however."

Since taking charge of the Boston club the Braves have shown steady improvement under his direction. Last season the club finished at the top of the second division and was playing as good ball as any team in the league when the curtain was rung down on the season. It is really remarkable how some slight change can bolster up a ball club," said Bancroft as he continued to discuss his team. "Take, for instance, the signing of Second Baseman Walter Gautreaux."

"When Connie Mack turns a ball player loose, the opinion is general that he isn't quite ready. Needing assistance at second, I took a chance on the former Holy Cross star."

"Little 'Gut' at once, became the spark-plug of our team. He's never going to be a Rogers Hornsby at the bat but he is welded together our infield in a most effective manner."

"Who is the best looking youngster on your ball club?" I asked.

"I have several promising recruits but I lean strongly to the pitcher warming up over there." He pointed to a husky athlete by the name of Vertz, with Worcester last season.

"That boy is going to be a great pitcher. As a matter of fact, he is pretty good right now. I look for him to win a lot of ball games."

Later as I watched him play with the Washington club for three innings, I could see the wisdom of Bancroft's speech.

There is no outstanding star on the Boston Braves, with the exception of Manager Bancroft, yet it impressed me as a well-rounded club.

The Braves look like the dark horse in the National. The Braves may emulate the feats of the 1914 team. However, it would be difficult to concede the club a chance to beat Pittsburgh, New York and St. Louis, and then there is also Cincinnati.

Fourth place would be a source of great delight to Manager Bancroft. And it's not beyond the bounds of reason.

HARRIS UNCONCERNED ABOUT SPRING GAMES

Tampa, Fla.—A year's time often brings about drastic changes in managerial opinion.

One year ago Manager Harris of the Washington club announced his team was out to win every exhibition game possible.

As world champions, the Senators were scheduled to engage in a long series with the New York Giants. The event was heralded as the spring world series.

It was for blood. The Giants wanted to prove the Senators were lucky and Washington sought to determine just the opposite. The teams broke even.

This year Manager Harris says he doesn't care one whit whether or not the team wins a single exhibition game.

Having already tasted of two pennants and anxious to win another, Harris realizes that his veteran pitcher

LITTLE SAYS NEW PASS RULE WON'T BOTHER BADGERS

Teams Which Use Ariel Attack Only as Ground Gaining Offensive Not Hurt

Madison—(AP)—Football teams that use the forward pass effectively will have little to fear from the new rule providing a penalty for incomplete passes, George Little, director of athletics and head coach at the University of Wisconsin, believes.

When he returned to duty after a brief illness, the Badger mentor said that he does not feel that the five yard penalty for incomplete pass will work a hardship on those teams which have used the forward pass effectively, and have not abused it.

"It will not seriously hamper those schools which use the pass as a part of the ground gaining offensive, but will affect teams which have used it haphazardly as a last resort," Coach Little said.

"The rule complicates matters and adds to the strategy of the game" in the opinion of the Wisconsin mentor.

Director Little however, sounded a warning that "before any further tempering is done with the forward pass it should be given a great deal of practical thought."

The Wisconsin coach does not believe his work with the Badger team will be seriously interfered with by the new ruling. Wisconsin last season was very successful in the use of the aerial attack, even in the disastrous battle with the Wolverines who beat the Badgers in the first two minutes and were held even for the remainder of the game.

While admitting there was a possibility that the rule might result in some schools resorting largely to straight football as a method of attack, the Badger coach was inclined to a belief that this would be done only by the "thoughtless."

STAGG SAYS NEW RULE WON'T HURT

Chicago Mentor Puts Pass Rule to Test by Using It on 1925 Home Contest

Chicago—(AP)—After applying the new forward pass rule to some of last season's games, A. A. Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago, is "more than ever convinced that the new rule will have no unfavorable influence, practically on the game of football."

Coach Stagg put the rule to a unique test by theoretically using it in five important home contests of the Chicago team during the 1925 season, accurate and detailed information of which he kept by charts, so that its application would have had little or no effect on the play or results.

In Dartmouth-Chicago game last Nov. 14, which the eastern team won 23 to 7, forty three passes were attempted. The Maroons tried eighteen, completed two and had four intercepted, and Dartmouth attempted twenty-five, completing twelve and having one intercepted. Had the new rule provisions been operative, Chicago would have suffered two penalties and Dartmouth none, Coach Stagg found, and neither of the losses would have influenced the contest, since both were in the middle.

Wisconsin and Chicago would each have lost 10 yards in the Nov. 21 game which Wisconsin won 20 to 7. None of the penalties would have had the direct or indirect influence, he found.

There were 22 passes attempted. Similar observations were made on the Ohio-Chicago game, the Chicago Northwestern tilt, and the Chicago-Purdue game in which Purdue was defeated 5 to 0.

STIRBLING WINS FROM SLATTERY IN 10-ROUND GO

Final Rounds and Weight Decide Great Battle, Tunney Again Considered

New York—(AP)—Young Stribling of Georgia continues on the direct road to honors in the heavyweight boxing while Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo again has turned from the main thoroughfare.

Stribling, just up from the fiasco of Miami, where his match with Gene Tunney was cancelled for lack of financial guarantee Thursday night in Madison square Garden outpunched and outlasted in 10 rounds the man who two years ago defeated him in a six round contest. Weight gained the verdict in the final analysis with the Georgian, 16 pounds heavier than Slattery, Friday Tunney again looms before Stribling, and Billy Gibson, manager of the American light heavyweight champion, says that the match can be made by a promoter of standing at any time.

"Indoors or out suits me," said Gibson, "and I am not demanding $50,000 for Tunney's appearance as reported." The battle may be signed for May 11, at the Garden or may await the opening of the baseball parks. It is more probable that Tex Richard will be behind it this time.

For more than half of the distance Thursday night neither man appeared to have any appreciable advantage but in the seventh the Georgian loosed an overhead right that caused damage. Smashes to the head had Slattery reeling and in the midst of many on the bell saved him from a knockout. He came back, however, to outbox his adversary in the ninth and was fighting with both hands when the bout ended.

Most critics gave six rounds to Stribling and three to Slattery, with one even.

Stribling was awarded the decision by the referee's vote after one judge had voted for Slattery and at least three cheered the verdict, for his wife, the former Virginia Kinney, of Madison, Wis., and "Ma" Stribling were at the ringside, while "Pa" was in his corner.

Great stuff! The Macmen sure surprised Eau Claire though it was mighty tough sledding the final quarter when the boys started to foul and the Chairmen started creeping up on free throws. We heard this part of the game over the radio and almost had heart failure in spots. The announcer said that Eau Claire missed more shots than ever this season, which was pretty nice for us. We sure broke a jinx when we picked Eau Claire to win and were going to pick Stevens Point to beat Appleton tonight, cause then we know the local boys will win. Anything to help the team.

The Fox River valley has a proud record of always playing 1-2-3 at the state meet in the last ten years and now it is up to the fighting Maes to keep that standard for the valley as Fondy got just what we got last year and know how that feels now. Manitowish still is in the running, however, with Danny Peppard starting. The Ships beat Monticello only 21-19.

We picked 5 out of 8 right yesterday and lost on surprises again. Fondy sure surprised every one but people who know say that crew is all shot after they lost the first game. Appleton surprised us as did River Falls.

Today we pick Appleton and River Falls to win the big games and let the rest go.

Gresenz Stars As Wilson Boys Bow To East Siders In Hard-fought Tilt, 7-3

Red Forward Marks Up Only Two Ringers of Tight Defensive Struggle

With Gresenz leading the way with the only two baskets scored during one of the tightest defensive battles staged on Armory G floor, Roosevelt high school cagers took the Appleton boys to the wire for 1926 by beating the Wilson quintet Thursday afternoon by a score of 7-3. Gresenz dropped a basket each half his last ringer in the final minutes of play putting the game on ice for the Red crew.

Gresenz started on offense for Roosevelt getting 6 of his team's 7 points and Kunitz and Clark played good defensive games. Dresang and Schaefer put up the best brand of ball for the Wilsonites. Both teams started out by missing plenty of shots and soon the game settled into a defensive struggle with one side and then the other losing the ball and rushing back to guard. In the last minute of play Wilson men missed three straight shots under the winner's basket on follow-ups. The first quarter ended 0-0 when a free try by Peterson was no good when he stepped over the line.

Dresang started scoring with a free throw for Wilson and Gresenz followed with a one hand shot from the side of the floor. He then added a free throw and Rafols came back with a single marker for Wilson before the half ended, 2-2 for Roosevelt. Peterson added a free throw for Roosevelt to start the third quarter and Rafols came back with another to garner Wilson's last point of the game as the quarter ended 1-3 for Roosevelt.

Soon after the last quarter started Gresenz added another free throw for Roosevelt making the score 5-3 and a basket by Wilson was not counted as the shooter had advanced the ball first. Gresenz dropped a basket from midfloor to end the scoring a few minutes later.

Things That Classified Ads Say-And Don't Say

You will never find an ad in the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified Section which tells you that the moon is made of green cheese. You may read over all these little ads without finding anything of this nature.

Simply because the statements made by the classified ads are all true-and what is still better, the absolute truth of their statements may always be proven very easily.

You may be inclined to accept the statement that the moon is made of green cheese, but you can't prove that it is so. And that is why classified ads never make any such statements.

Advertisers generally recognize the fact that it will not pay them to advertise untruths. And on top of this, the Post-Crescent refuses to accept misleading advertising. We maintain a rigid censorship through which misrepresentation seldom leaks.

You may place implicit belief in the things the classified ads say!

LYNCH REFUSES TO SELL ROUTE FOR S. CHERRY-ST

Winnipeg-co Highway
Chairman Says Negotiations Have Been Halted

After negotiations were practically completed the deal between Winnipeg-co and John Lynch for acquiring a right-of-way through the firm occupied by Lynch at the south limits of Appleton has been temporarily halted according to Ernest Raddatz, chairman of the Winnipeg-co highway committee.

An understanding has been reached a few weeks ago and the papers were in the process of being drawn up, but Lynch refused to close the deal as expected. Mr. Raddatz said Winnipeg-co officials understood at the time that everything had been accomplished but signing of the papers according to the highway committee chairman.

Mr. Lynch will be given until March 15 to come to an agreement with the committee. Mr. Raddatz said if he fails to sell the right-of-way through his land for a reasonable price by that time the committee will start condemnation proceedings against him.

Although the deal is pending the committee is not holding up its plans of constructing a highway through the Lynch farm connecting Foster st.

HEALTH PROGRAM BY M'KINLEY SCHOOL PUPILS

A health program was given by students of the McKinley Junior High School at a general assembly meeting in the auditorium of the school Thursday morning. The program was the result of work done in the month of March in health.

The program talk by Miss Mildred Koike on The Health of the Community, demonstration of a few simple bandages by Miss Vivian Wilson and Miss Irma Schwalback, a health play by the Misses Margaret Stille, Evelyn LeRoux, Virginia Hanson, Alice Butner and Johanna D. Ward, demonstration of artificial respiration by Gordon Coon and Elmer Jensen.

High S. Cherry st. is a dirt road Mr. Raddatz intimated.

So sure was Winnipeg-co several weeks ago that all difficulties had been solved out that it was announcing the company had acquired the above mentioned right-of-way.

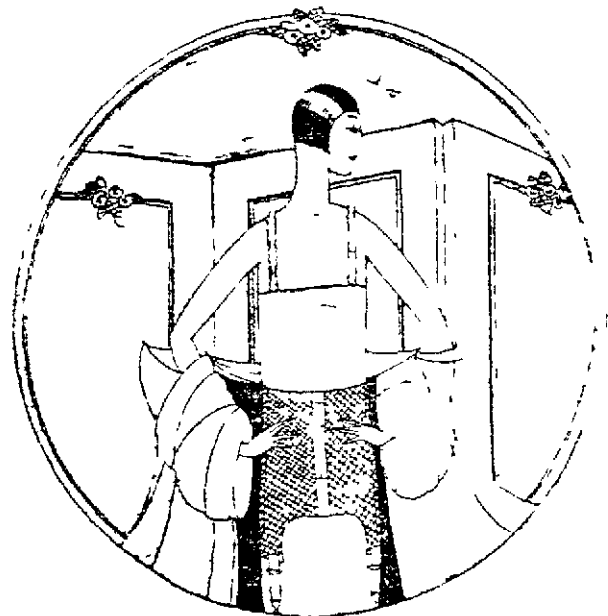

The property involved was described as being from 100 to 600 feet long and 100 feet wide.

Appleton is now proceeding with a plan for building of S. Cherry st. The work will be started at the corner of Foster st. division engineer of the Wisconsin state highway commission told Mayor Goodland several weeks ago that a contract would be let immediately.
